Hyperparameter Tuning

How to choose a best model

- Don't worry about finding the absolute best model.

- Focus on accuracy, recall, precision, and computation time.

- Think about what metric matters most for your use case. Do you care more about false positives, false negatives, or computation time?

- Small improvements in accuracy may not be worth it if there is a large increase in computation time.

Mass Street University
PER EDUCATIONEM PROGRESSUS